LEARN MORE ABOUT THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD IN ITS GLORY DAYS.

Travel to historic Altoona to visit the Railroader's Memorial Museum and Horseshoe Curve National Historic Landmark. When the Pennsylvania Railroad (PRR) was building its line between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, Altoona didn't exist yet. PRR actually founded the town in 1849 as the location for its locomotive and car repair shops. This new museum offers three floors of exhibits and a movie theatre that shows two movies every hour.

At the Curve an incline will take us "track side" so we can watch the trains travel through this engineering marvel. The Pennsylvania Railroad built the horseshoe shape to keep the tracks gliding along the natural formation of the Allegheny Mountains. Enjoy a picnic box lunch under the pavilion as we relive the days when railroads ruled!

The Penn State Berkey Creamery has been a milestone since dairy research began at Penn State in 1865. And the Creamery is more than just ice cream - it provides continuing education and training, and it serves as a working lab for students. With more than 100 ice cream flavors, 10 frozen yogurts, and 6 sherbets, you can't possibly walk away without at least one scoop of deliciousness!

Price of the trip does not include bus driver tip. Elite Coach is our transportation provider. Bus departs the Shillington Shopping Center parking lot BEHIND the PA Driver's License Photo Center at 7:03 am and will return at approximately 8:01 pm.
